Underway

In recent weeks the addition to Hancock County Library System's main headquarters in Bay St. Louis has been materializing from a slab and some metal supports to the walls viewed in the accompanying photo. The construction going on is indicative of how fast a building can be fabricated. Library patrons will surely be pleased when the expansion is completed and they can enjoy the new facilities. Temporary shutdown for repairs

Bay bridge to close

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Area boaters may suffer from cabin fever next month when the Highway 90 bridge over the Bay of St. Louis slams shut to marine traffic.

To accommodate repairs to the 40-year-old mechanisms that raise and lower the drawspan, workers will have to keep the water-route closed for a total of four weeks -- with a brief respite. The closing starts Oct. 10 at 7 a.m. and ends at midnight, Nov. 5.

That means any craft that can't squeeze under the 13-foot vertical clearance of the bridge will have to stay put inside the Bay of St. Louis, or on the outside, looking in.

Officials say the work schedule approved by the Coast Guard will allow a brief period when the span may open, allowing marine traffic in and out: from 12:01 a.m. Oct. 23, to 7 a.m. Oct. 24.

Otherwise, it will be impossible to operate the drawspan, because its worn-out, massive bearings will be removed, and taken to a foundry for duplication.

Most area industries won't be affected by the work, because little barge traffic slips through the Bay. DuPont in Delisle uses rail transportation exclusively for its extensive manufacturing operation.

Bridge tender Henry Wilson said while the bridge opens two or three times a week for barges, up to 30 openings may be necessary on a busy weekend day to accommodate recreational boaters.

"I've had a lot of calls from east in the Bay, however. At Casino Magic Marina, some larger boats will be locked in during the bridge repairs. In fact, the work schedule was delayed a week to accommodate the upcoming Gulf Coast Wooden Boat Rendezvous, sponsored by the Hancock County Historical Society.

The second annual event is expected to draw 50 to 100 wooden boats to Casino Magic's marina, where thousands of tourists and boat enthusiasts are expected to gather.

Historical Society president Charles Gray said Wednesday he was shocked to hear a rumor that there were plans to close the bridge to marine traffic for a month, beginning Oct. 2. The society had already waged an extensive advertising and promotion campaign for the event, and it was too late to put the brakes on the plans, he said.

Gray made a flurry of phone calls to the Highway Department, Coast Guard officials and management of Boh Brothers. He said he got confirmation of the rumors and began a campaign to save the boat show.

"When they really understood what a mess it was going to be -- with 50 to 100 boats and thousands of spectators lined up outside ... they were most cooperative. They rescheduled all of that for me," delaying the project from Oct. 2 to Oct. 10.

The boat show starts Oct. 7, and participants have until 7 a.m. on the 10th to get out of the Bay, or stay in place for two weeks.

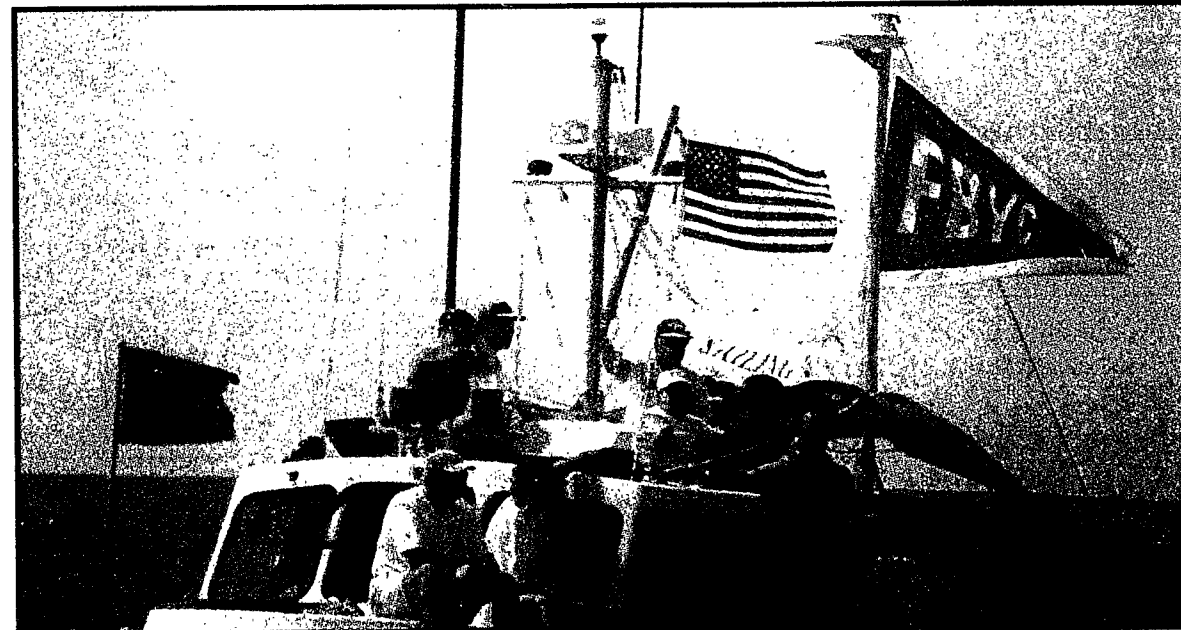

Meanwhile, Coast Guard officials say they don't anticipate boat owners with sailboats who say they'll take theirs outside (the Bay) somewhere until it's over," Wilson said of the upcoming shutdown of the span.

District highway engineer Rick Turner said there were only two options to consider when plans were drawn to repair the bridge -- either leave the drawspan up continuously, which would close the route to all vehicles, or leave it down, closing the route to marine traffic. Officials chose to leave it open to vehicular traffic.

The repair project by Boh Brothers of Metairie, La., is part of a much larger upgrade of the Bay bridge and two other draw bridges on Highway 90, including those in Pascagoula and Biloxi, Turner said. All three have been experiencing problems, he added.

"Oh yeah, it's in bad shape,"

County adopts budget

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors adopted their budget for 1994-95 at a meeting on Tuesday.

The county will reduce taxes by one mill and have a total budget of $18,854,245.

There was a question by one citizen present during the budget hearing as to why the county was reducing millage when there were so many needed improvements to roads and the sewer system.

Board attorney Gerald Gex told the citizen that it is state law that they reduce taxes every year since gaming has come to the county.

Hancock County School Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois also submitted the school system's budget for adoption. Bourgeois said that there was no increase and no decrease in millage for the school system.

Also, Circuit Clerk Pam Metzler asked the board to allow her to hire Gulfport attorney Albert Necaise to represent her and the election commission in the upcoming "friendly" lawsuit between the current Hancock County School Board and the board of supervisors. The county approved the hiring of Necaise.

Bids were opened and accepted for work needed on approximately 1.4 miles of roads in McLeod Park and 6.569 miles of roads "A" and "B". Both bids approved were from Huey Stockstill Construction of Picayune. The first bid was in the amount of $41,568.80. The second was in the amount of $252,099.16.

The board opened and approved bids for a surge protection system for computer equipment. The bid from Control Technology of Bay St. Louis was approved in the amount of $6,335.

The county also approved the payroll, the September claims docket and voted to advertise for furniture and equipment for the city-county library.

Hancock school board studies boundary lines

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER
There may be some students attending Hancock County Schools that should actually be in the Bay St. Louis School District.

Board attorney Steve Benvenutti said that following research into the matter. It appears that there could be students in the northwest corner of Section 4 attending Hancock schools who should be going to city schools.

The board asked Hancock County Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois and the principals of the schools to determine if there are any students in that area that should be attending city schools to notify the parents that the child can remain in the district as a tuition student if they receive a release from Bay-Waveland School District, or attend Bay-Waveland for free.

Benvenutti said that the problem, as far as he can see, goes back to 1990 when the Clermont Harbor Fire District was established.

"When they went to identify those areas it was said that they were all county," Benvenutti said.

Some board members said from their understanding, there are students that have attended school in the district for 12 years that might not should have.

Benvenutti said that this affects students who live in Section 4, Township 9, Range 14, which is near the Waveland city limits.

Also, the school board members signed the closing documents for the three mill, 10-year negotiable notes for 1994.

The board went into executive session to discuss pending litigation. No action was taken during the executive session.

The board approved the minutes from Aug. 29 and 30, approved the agenda and the consent agenda.

The board recessed until Sept. 19 at 5 p.m.

Deadline is nearing for qualifying in county elections

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER
The deadline for qualifying for the November election is Friday at 5 p.m., but as of Wednesday evening, no one had qualified for election commissioners in Districts 1 and 2.

Hancock County Circuit Clerk Pam Metzler said that if no one qualifies for the position, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors will have to appoint people to the positions until an election can be held in November 1995.

"I'm worried. No one has even notified me that they were interested in the position. I have never run into this situation before," Metzler said.

Candidates for Hancock County school board positions have started qualifying.

Those who have qualified so far are Tony Caston in District 3, L.J. "Larry" Peterson in District 1 and Cheryl Bennett in District 2.

All five school board seats are up for election in November.

Aldermen's meeting short and sweet

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER
The Waveland Aldermen met Tuesday night with Mayor Stella Frilot present.

The city authorized the mayor to sign an engagement letter from Moore & Powell to perform an audit for the city's fiscal year 1994-95.

The aldermen also approved recommendations from the planning and zoning commission, the minutes and the bills.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Food, our friend/enemy

Party time! Invariably, this call to arms conjures up visions of most things we have no business eating or drinking. If nothing else, party time is a conscience-saving excuse for digging into any imaginable junk foods and drinks.

Food is the backdrop not just of parties, but of all banquets, receptions, anniversaries, funerals and celebrations in the family, church, school, workplace or political arena.

Perhaps only grudgingly acknowledged by many of the political, military, social, financial and recreational moguls of the world, the most momentous moments in our planet's history took place with Jewish food as the ceremonial backdrop.

Just as the mysterious Passover of the Jews had been executed centuries before with unleavened bread, roasted lamb, bitter herbs and wine, so did Jesus establish a commemoration of the spiritual salvation of the whole world:

"While they were eating, Jesus took bread, said the blessing, broke it, and giving it to his disciples said, 'Take and eat; this is my body' (Mt. 26: 26). In this case, Jesus elevated bread and wine beyond the mere role of backdrop into the incredible role of corporal medium in his own odyssey of the world's spiritual salvation.

Thus, we run the gamut of the use of food: from the sublime to the ridiculous. Unfortunately, most people seem to have an irresistible penchant for the ridiculous in their choices and uses of food and drink.

Many of us use food and/or drink to reward ourselves. If we have been good, if we have done well, if anything good has happened around us, that's an excuse to eat and drink.

"I'll eat to that," comes out as readily as "I'll drink to that."

Food is undoubtedly the most widely used tranquilizer or pacifier. One who is down in the dumps is more than likely to taste, to munch or even to attack a larger portion of food, of candy, of desserts, or of some sort of delicacy.

Some people starve themselves when depressed; others

Countywide cleanup set for September 17

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring its bi-annual countywide cleanup Saturday, Sept. 17.

The Chamber is asking all of its members and the entire community to assist in the clean-up efforts by picking up litter and debris around their businesses, homes, roadways and area beaches.

Many have already made a commitment to help beautify our county as a number of school clubs, civic organizations, businesses and many others are involved in publicity, registration and adopting roadways in their neighborhoods.

"In a lot of instances, the only impression that lasts is the first one made," Chamber executive director Cindy Vernon said.

"For this very reason, we want to make certain that the first one is a good one by making sure that litter is in its place, not along the roadways or beaches.

"Please join in these efforts to help clean up Hancock County by contacting the Chamber office at 467-9048 to register for the cleanup or by showing up at one of the registration points that will be set up throughout the county on the morning of the cleanup.

Registration points will be set up at the Save Our Children Center, the Garfield Laddner Memorial Pier, Buccaneer State Park, Diamondhead, Pearlman, Leetown/White Cypress, Shifalo Baptist Church (Hwy. 603-Kila) and the Hotel Reed lawn on Ulman Avenue. These locations will be open from 8 to 9:30 a.m. for registration.

Trash bags will be provided at registration. Participants will be given a canvas tote bag and treated to a free hot dog and coke afterwards as tokens of appreciation for their efforts to make Hancock County the best place to live, work and play.

The tote bags will be given out on a first-come, first-serve basis due to a limited supply, and will only be available on the morning of the cleanup at the registration points while supplies last.

The hot dogs and cokes will be available at the Garfield Laddner Memorial Pier in Waveland at noon.

For information on the cleanup or to pre-register, please call the Chamber at 467-9048, or stop by 412 Hwy. 90, Suite 6, Colonial Plaza in Bay St. Louis.

Grand Opening

YCart Gallery, 112 North Second Street in Bay St. Louis, had its grand opening on Friday, Sept. 2. Owners Yancy Pogue and Carter Church cut the ribbon to officially open the gallery. Joining in the ceremonies were, from left, Dave Truetel, president of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, Pogue, Church, Veronica Bell and Bay St. Louis city councilman Charles Scianna. Also joining them were Cindy Vernon, executive director of the chamber and other friends and acquaintances, who stopped by to wish their new BSL neighbors well. CHEEP TALK

by Audrey Comeaux

Greetings,
Wow! It's great to be back here in the Echo! We've been traveling all over the country looking for new fall clothing for you ... and it's arriving now! We have new dress lines and lots of the great famous brands you know and love. And our prices are going to be surprisingly low, for really finest quality name brands.

How do we do it, you ask? We work very hard at buying goods for our store. We go to many, many markets and find only the great looks we like ... then it must be below wholesale prices in order to offer it to you at a savings of at LEAST 30%. We LOVE doing it and you must LOVE it to ... because you, our beautiful customers, keep coming back for more. (Our really clever customers know they must come in at least once a week to keep up with all our new arrivals.)

Since we last talked, I have a gorgeous new grandson and he has given our family a fresh new sense of wonder at living in this beautiful world. Babies give us our perspective back, don't they?

If you haven't been to Yellowbird for awhile ... come see us! We have done some refurbishing we think you'll like. And of course, we just like to see your smiling faces. YOU are the reason we love our job here at Yellowbird! See you soon!

"We're right 'your way' at Yellowbird."

For the opening concert Dr. Harper has selected the Overture to Russian and Ludmilla by Glinka, followed by Shubert's Symphony No. 5, Weber's Invitation to the Dance, Brahms' Hungarian Dances No. 5, 6 and 7; Borodine's Polovetsian Dances from Prince Igor, Bartok's Rumanian Folk Dances, Smetana's Three Dances from the Bartered Bride and Copland's Hoe-Down.

There will be an open rehearsal at the Saenger Saturday, Sept. 17 at 3 p.m. Tickets for the rehearsal and concert will be available at the door.

Advance tickets are available at the Greater Gulf Coast Arts Council, 2511 13th Street, Gulfport, 864-4000, or may be obtained by writing to the Gulf Coast Symphony Orchestra Inc., P.O. Box 7294, Gulfport, MS 39506.

Open rehearsal is $5 and the concert at 8 p.m. is $15. Single ticket price for 12 years and under is $8.

Season tickets may be obtained from the Greater Gulf Coast Arts Council or by writing the Gulf Coast Symphony Orchestra or Mrs. Donald Robohm, 423 East Beach Drive, Ocean Springs, MS 39564.

Season tickets are: 1 adult $45; 1 patron $75; sustainer (2 tickets) $125; benefactor (4 tickets) $250; partner (6 tickets) $500; and sponsor (8 tickets) $1,000.

According to the "Student Stampede" program inaugurated last season, students may attend the concert for $5 on a space available basis. The Student Stampede begins at 7:50 p.m.

The next concerts will be Saturday, Dec. 10, March 4, and the Pops on April 22.

Bay-Waveland Elks anniversary celebrated

On Sunday, Aug. 28 the Elks celebrated their second-year anniversary.

Food and desserts were provided by the ladies. Music was furnished by member Bill Connolly.

Exalted Ruler Bob Hellmers recognized Phil Nami and wife Gail for the continued support and help to the Lodge.

Hellmers was house chairman for the past two years. He has resigned as house chairman, but will continue to support and help out where he's needed.

Attending the celebration from other lodges along the Coast were Billy Williams, past state president and past district deputy for South Mississippi, of Pascagoula; Jack Cunningham, exalted ruler, of Biloxi;

Charles Duffie, state secretary, and wife Chris, of Ocean Springs;

Mel Hornbeck, chairman of state sponsored hoop shoot contest for youths, and his wife Inge, of Ocean Springs;

Arnold Blackmon, past district deputy, and wife Toni Rae, auxiliary state parliamentarian, of Ocean Springs; Mark Hebert, leading knight, of Biloxi, and Dan Wasilenko, inner guard, of Biloxi.

Van Ness Turner, commodore of the Bay Waveland Yacht Club, said owners of some 50 craft that dock there have simply accepted the inevitable.

"We're just going to live with it. We just don't have any choice. People are pretty much accepting it, as something that has to happen."

Don Bowen of Bayview Marina said the closing plan won't have much impact on boaters there, given that the post-Labor Day season is a fairly slack one. Most of the boats that dock there are small enough to get under the bridge without using the draw span, Bowen said.

It's a different story further pate any problems during the period the bridge will be stuck in the closed position.

Arrangements have been made to handle search and rescue missions during that time, without the need of the bridge opening, Coast Guard officials say.

QUOTES

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Hancock County football enters into its third week of the season tomorrow night.

The Tigers of Bay High will host the Pirates of Pass Christian as their home opener of the season.

Hancock High's Hawks tangle with the Maroon Tide in Picayune.

St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws will take on the mighty Biloxi Indians in Biloxi.

The Pirates from across the Bay are a pesky bunch this season and would like to pull an upset over the Tigers.

The Tigers are 4-A rated and the Pirates are 2-A, but don't let the smaller school fool you. Pass Christian will not be a push-over.

Bay High has had an extra week to get ready for the Pirates, and they could be caught napping by the Pirates.

It should be a very interesting game.

I am sure Walt Esslinger's Tigers should be ready.

The Hawks of Hancock will be journeying to Picayune, and the Maroon Tide will be thinking about two weeks ago when Bay High edged them 9-7 in their season opener.

Hawk head coach Rocky Gaudin's squad will have to be extra ready for Picayune.

It is still early in the season, but this will be another 5-A rated team for the Hawks away from home.

Some good bounces of the ball and a superior game can bring victory for the Hawks.

Biloxi is for real this season, so Stanislaus will have to hope for the best.

Hancock's Hawks saw their power two weeks ago.

Stanislaus could possibly stay close to Biloxi, and they would be lucky to do that, much less win.

We will have to wait and see what head coach Brandon LeBlanc has in store for the Indians. Who knows, it may be another upset.

All local football teams need your support Friday night.

A little extra help in the stands can do wonders for a team.

I hope to see you at the game.

Greater understanding can help prevent domestic violence

Many instances of domestic violence can be prevented by a greater understanding of this often misunderstood aspect of human behavior, according to the Mississippi Division of Public Safety Planning.

Although national crime statistics indicate that most domestic violence victims are women who are battered by their husbands or boyfriends, victims also include gay and lesbian partners, children and grandparents.

Domestic violence covers a wide range of behaviors, some that are criminal, such as rape, unwanted sexual touching, forcing sex with third partners, hitting, choking, kicking, assault with a weapon, shoving, scratching, biting, threats of violence, harassment at work and destruction of property.

Other forms of domestic violence, such as degrading comments, interrogating children or other family members, suicide threats or attempts, controlling access to family resources and controlling the victim's time and activities, are often part of the perpetrator's controlling pattern but not regarded as criminal conduct.

"Without intervention, the pattern of assaultive behaviors generally will escalate in both frequency and severity," said Donald O'Cain, Public Safety Planning's executive director.

"Because of this, law enforcement agencies across Mississippi are taking domestic violence more seriously than in years gone past.

"There's a trend away from asking the victim if he or she wishes to press charges against the perpetrator. If there's a reason to believe a crime has been committed, regardless of the victim's wishes, an arrest often is made.

"Most domestic violence is learned behavior rather than biological or genetic behavior," O'Cain explained.

He said that the majority of domestic violence is not "out of control" behavior. Instead, O'Cain explained, that it typically is a pattern of behavior directed by the perpetrator.

"In most instances, perpetrators are making choices, even when they are supposedly 'out of control'.

"They may batter only in particular ways. They may use violence only toward the victim, even though they're angry at others such as their bosses," O'Cain said.

"Some battering occurs when the perpetrator is not emotionally charged and done intentionally to gain victim compliance."

He noted that "stress" often is blamed for domestic violence.

"We can respond to stress in many ways such as problem solving, substance abuse, eating, laughing, withdrawal or violence.

"It is important to hold individuals accountable for the choices they make, particularly when those choices involve violence and other destructive approaches."

Jim Walker, director of the division's Office of Standards and Training, noted that "many individuals believe that victims of domestic violence stay with perpetrators because they like to be abused, but studies show that, even in cases where the victim was abused as a child, he or she rarely seeks out violence and typically does not want to be battered.

"There's also a myth," Walker said, "that a battered woman could easily leave the relationship if she desired. The primary reason given for staying with the perpetrator, however, is the realistic fear of escalating violence.

"National crime statistics indicate that in nearly 75 percent of reported spousal assaults, the partners were divorced or separated."

Noting that some batterers are life-endangering, O'Cain offered the following profiles of a perpetrator likely to kill his or her partner, other family members and/or others attempting intervention:

— The batterer who has threatened suicide or to kill his or her partner, the children or relatives.

— An individual who has developed a fantasy about who, how and when to kill.

— A batterer who's acutely depressed and sees little hope for moving beyond the depression.

— A man who is obsessive about his female partner, who either idolizes her and feels that he cannot live without her or believes he is entitled to her.

— A batterer who possesses weapons and has used them or threatened to use them in a domestic violence situation.

— An individual who believes that the loss of a battered partner represents a total loss of hope for a positive future.

— A batterer who believes the victim is leaving him or her.

— An individual who consumes alcohol or other drugs when in a state of despair or fury.

— A batterer who assaults and mutilates pets.

"If any of these indicators exist," O'Cain said, "a potential victim immediately should take extraordinary measures for protection and should contact a local battered person's shelter to further assess the problem and make a safety plan.

"Of course, the best advice for an adult to avoid becoming the victim of domestic violence is never to marry or live with an individual who shows indications that he or she is or could be a perpetrator," he said.

"Looking carefully before you leap could save your life or prevent years of suffering."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Reader urges parents to attend school meeting

Dear Editor:

This letter is in reference to two articles published in your Aug. 28 and Sept. 4 papers. One article was due to the children's safety, the other the children transfers. I too believe the school board members and superintendent lack vision.

I always believed their responsibility was to care for the safety and well-being of all children, as well as promote top education to our children. Well, I'm learning I was wrong.

I have another area of concern, this one is over the five free skip days. This is where our children do not show up for school, and we as parents are not notified until after the fifth day, and then we are to be notified by the Youth Court that our children have not been attending school. This five-day span is throughout the school year, not five days in a row.

I just bet our children like this, since until last week my child knew this and I didn't.

Once again, our school board wasn't ready since I haven't seen or signed a school regulations book (per the school, they aren't ready yet). I called Gulfport city and Gulfport county schools for their school board policy, and they notified me by phone and by letter sent out the first day of absence. At least those parents will know if their child is safe.

I too have to be at work at 8 a.m., and I have a child in elementary and one child in high school, and I think it's a disgrace that our school board is, one, uprooting our small children, (as if they aren't scared already) and, two, changed the school hours where we can't even make their day a little bit better by taking them to school (instead of drop off spots) and, three, we won't even know if they arrived at school safely until it's too late.

Yes, our school board does lack vision.

Parents, I urge you to attend the next school board meeting Sept. 12 and let's be heard. We have to protect our children. Maybe the school board hasn't noticed, but our streets aren't safe anymore. Please speak out and be heard. If nothing else, maybe we can save a child and promote education as well as safety.

SENATE REPORT

Members of the State Senate returned to Jackson Aug. 15 for a special legislative session to tackle problems that could not wait until the start of the 1995 regular session in January.

Issues on the agenda included prison construction to ease overcrowding; reauthorizing the state Parole Board; strengthening death penalty laws; reauthorizing operation of the Department of Human Services; and approving monies to fund veterans nursing home.

Presently, Mississippi is facing a federal court order from U.S. District Judge L. T. Senter to formulate an acceptable plan by the Sept. 23 hearing date to get state inmates out of crowded county jails or pay millions of dollars in fines.

By a vote of 42-8 the Senate passed a bill which would authorize an additional 1,416 prison beds to the South Mississippi Correctional Institute in Rankin County.

The bill also allows for construction of two private prisons containing 1,000 beds in Leflore County and either Marshall or Wilkinson County, two 100-bed restitution centers (one possibly in Bolivar County) and a 75-bed work camp in Noxubee County.

Senate Bill 2005 also establishes a three-member board to be known as the State Prison Emergency Construction Management Board (SPECM) consisting of the Attorney General, the State Treasurer and the Lieutenant Governor. SPECM would oversee efforts to find temporary solutions to Mississippi's crowded prisons.

Steps suggested to ease the backlog of state inmates in county jails include: purchasing tents for temporary housing of 1,200 inmates; allowing Mississippi to send 500 inmates out of state until prison construction is completed here; and bunking beds or rotating beds in some prisons.

The bill also provides that counties currently receiving $10 per day to feed and house state inmates will now receive $20 for each inmate. Following the state bid laws for competitive bidding when awarding contracts for prisons is required within the bill as well as a provision that up to 20 percent of the contracts may be set aside for minorities or women.

The prison bill also authorizes a study be made on how to assist counties in rehabilitating or constructing jails by providing a special grant program to them.

After much debate and differing opinions from both the Senate and the House, the final version of the bill removes TVs, radios, computers, compact discs, stereos, tape players and weight lifting equipment from any prisoner that does not participate in a work incentive program or discipline program administered by the Department of Corrections.

Air conditioning will not be a luxury enjoyed by inmates. A change of uniform from the denim worn to striped uniforms with the word "convict" on the back of the shirts will be phased in beginning January 1995.

An appropriation bill was passed providing $66 million for implementing Senate Bill 2005 which is now law. These monies will pay for prison construction

Sportsmanship award

Hancock High School was presented with a sportsmanship award from the Mississippi High School Athletic Association and Farm Bureau Insurance. Hancock was one of four schools in the district selected based on all of their athletic programs combined and the overall success of their students as a whole. Give driving full attention

A motorist is reading a newspaper while traveling along a Mississippi highway. Another motorist is reading a book, and still another is doing some figuring with a calculator. One motorist actually is watching a small TV set as he travels toward his destination.

These motorists may feel confident of their driving skills, but by not giving their full attention, they are prime candidates for a serious highway crash, according to the Mississippi Division of Public Safety Planning.

"Many traffic fatalities and serious injuries could be prevented if motorists would concentrate upon their driving and be fully prepared to take evasive action when an unexpected situation arises," said Donald O'Cain, the division's executive director.

"No driver can afford to have his or her attention diverted because of the unexpected actions of other motorists, the appearance of animals, pedestrians and bicyclists on the roadway, sudden turns and weather changes often demand quick and decisive action."

He noted that motorists constantly should watch for pedestrians, animals, bicycles, emergency vehicles, parked cars, intersections, no passing zones and driveways.

"Don't ever assume what other drivers will do; be ready for the unexpected," O'Cain said. He offered the following suggestions to deal with roadway problems:

— A tailgater — Slow down gradually if you're in a passing zone so you can be passed. Pull off the road or turn if necessary.

— A drunk driver — Be alert for erratic driving that may be a sign of a drunk driver. Stay far enough away so that you're not in danger, and report the vehicle to the nearest law enforcement officer as soon as possible.

— Mechanical failure — Slow down and pull off the road as soon as you can. To get help, put on emergency flashers, raise your hood and tie a handkerchief or white cloth, if possible, to your radio antenna of left door handle.

— Approaching high beams — Dim your lights and focus eyes away from the lights. Use the right side of the road as a guide. Reduce speed until the other vehicle passes and your eyes readjust.

— An unavoidable collision — Brake hard, but don't lock brakes. Aim for the right shoulder of the road. Move off the road to avoid a head-on collision, unless there's a greater danger by doing so.

— A skid — Don't slam the brakes. Ease off the gas and steer gently in the direction you want to go.

and start-up expenditures. During the special session the Senate also voted to revive the five-member Parole Board which had lapsed on July 1, 1994.

A joint legislative committee known as the Parole Commission was established to study the entire parole system, including truth in sentencing guidelines to make felons serve their full terms and submit its findings to the Legislature by January 1995.

Other actions included eliminating parole for anyone convicted of a felony after July 1, 1995 and banning parole for carjackers, armed robbers, drive-by shooters and practically all sex crime offenders.

Parole would also be eliminated for capital-murder convicts which will affect some criminals presently being considered for release after serving 20 years.

Since 1990 the Supreme Court has ordered new sentencing hearings for criminals receiving the death penalty due to vagueness in instructions given to juries.

Even when evidence of the crime was undeniable, the court has held cases for the "harmless error" in a jury instruction.

This week the Senate passed a bill giving the Mississippi Supreme Court the power to reweigh evidence and uphold death penalty sentences if "harmless errors" were made in the sentencing phase.

This much needed measure will speed up the appeals process in death penalty cases and eliminates the bottleneck on Mississippi's death row.

During the 1993, regular session the Legislature funded several veterans homes, however building the homes has been delayed due to higher bids than originally expected.

A bill was passed in the special session to further fund three new veterans homes in Collins, Oxford and Kosciusko.

The bill approves the additional sale of $2.5 million in bonds while promised federal funds should take care of about 60 percent of the cost for construction.

Mississippi's Department of Human Services has been run by an executive order of the Governor since July 1, 1994. During the special session legislators revived the agency for four years but will require another legislative review in 1998.

Both the Senate and the House approved a bill to reauthorize the agency but would not allow the expansion of a child-support collection contract outside of Hinds and Warren counties.

The Governor supported the expansion of the pilot program throughout Mississippi's remaining 80 counties and vetoed the bill.

The Legislature overrode the Governor's veto Aug. 20 and the bill is not law. Under the compromised final version the department will continue privatization of child support activities in Hinds and Warren counties but in no other counties. A report detailing the pilot program results must be submitted to a legislative committee this December.

The Department must have approval of the Legislature for future contracting with private firms when operating any division, bureau or office.

The bill was amended to address the welfare payments received by mothers receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) benefits.

Payments may be received by a mother according to the number of children born when the application is approved, but prohibits an increase in benefits for any children born later. This change must be approved by federal welfare officials.

On Monday, Aug. 22 and the day before the end of the special session, Governor Fordice further expanded the call for the special session to include addressing an issue of concern about one of Mississippi's species of fish known as the roe mullet.

The Senate passed a bill to ban commercial fishermen in other states from fishing Mississippi waters if our state fishermen are not allowed to fish commercially in their states.

The bill also enhances penalties for commercial fishermen who fish with gill or trammel nets in closed waters north of Hwy. 90.

Roe mullet season would be eliminated in the bill and fall under the discretion of the Department of Marine Resources. Roe are currently harvested and sold overseas as caviar at high prices.

The stipulation included in the bill to preserve the roe mullet is that they cannot be caught using a purse seine which is a net with less than an inch opening. This was added in an effort to replenish the mullet industry on the Mississippi Coast.

Senators spent nine days and nights in order to complete debate and passage of the critical issues addressed during this special session. The 1995 Session is scheduled to begin on Jan. 3, 1995.

Places Course ready for play

By Margaret Williamson

GOOD NEWS!

Rick Fair of the Diamondhead Sports Locker is a definite friend and supporter of our Diamondhead SPCA. They will be hosting a 5K run and 1 mile walk Saturday, Sept. 10.

Starting time is 8 a.m., beginning and ending at the E. Rec. Center. There is no entrance fee, but each participant will receive a sponsor's T-shirt, and food and beverages will be served after the race. Step up and show your appreciation of this event.

For spay/neuter information and financial assistance, call Frances Pike at 255-1297. All those puppies and kittens we find come from neglect to have this very urgent procedure performed. Let's do more to protect our canine and feline friends.

AHOY, BOATERS

A U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Boating Skills and Seamanship Course will begin Tuesday, Sept. 13 at the community center.

Classes will be from 7 to 9 p.m. in the card room. The course is being conducted by Flotilla 33 and will cover topics ranging from boat handling to legal requirements.

There will be a small charge for books. Contact Flotilla Commander Frank Gasper at 255-4272 for more information.

D'HEAD AARP

Our own AARP group in Diamondhead needs more members. We know you're out there. As Gert Waddington reminds us in the September newsletter, "Don't be left out of these interesting meetings and the good fellowship you will always find at our meetings."

This past Tuesday, Sept. 6, George McCook introduced those in the audience to "Glen Eagle at Diamondhead," a prestigious development by Purcell Inc. that will provide the best country living with a wealth of amenities and easy access to the entertainment and cultural activities of the surrounding areas. For more information call 255-9464.

DYO

Roberta Lottes, president of the Diamondhead Youth Organization, such a worthwhile group in our community, is taking some breaths of relaxation from such a busy summer with our Diamondhead youths, but she reminds us that the Sept.

DYO meeting on Monday, Sept. 12, 7 p.m. at the community center, is very important! Please plan to attend.

CANASTA ANYONE?

Where have all our members gone? We miss you Mary Bates, Gertrude Helwig, Gayle Heckman, Joyce Hicks, Veronica Paulus, Elois Connelly, Gail McConnum, Annette Saucier, Ruth Olivier, and a special invitation to all of you out there who love the camaraderie and good times of our get-togethers every Thursday at 1 p.m. at the community center.

THOUGHTS TO SHARE

"If you can't say anything nice, don't say anything at all." — Thumper's father in Bambi. Our words can cause others and ourselves pleasure or pain. Belavish with praise. Be slow to criticize and always do so in private.

And be quiet when angry. A single match can destroy a thousand-year old forest.

An instant of angry words can destroy what has taken years to build.

Protecting our ego or pride is not worth it. If we practice verbal control at times of minor irritation, then with conscious effort we can choose our words carefully in times of true anger.

When I want to speak, let me think first:

Is it true?

Is it kind?

Is it necessary?

If not, let it be left unsaid.

When speaking of others this day, I pray for a spirit of kindness.

May all your conversations be pleasing in His sight.

Be good, be kind, and love one another.

Happy Sweet Sixteenth Birthday to Courtney Catherine Blouin!

...Diamondhead ... that ... means ... months ... by our ... and ... from our ...

...celebrate there will be a ... Day on ... with free Continental breakfast, hot dogs, hamburgers and beer for lunch, and that night red beans and rice, topped off by a dance featuring "Bo and Dee."

Brenda and "her crew" plan to start at 6:30 a.m. (whew — that's early) doing their good turns of keeping everybody happy and well-fed.

Cash bars will be available at regular prices. Don't forget the dance tops off the fun-filled day, and as Brenda says, "Bo and Miss Dee know how to crank it up and have a good time." See ya' there.

NEW FACES AND PLACES

That lovely white building (before you get to Hancock Bank) on the left are the new offices of W. Roderick Johnson, attorney-at-law, at 5401 Indian Hill Boulevard, a professional complex. Stop in and welcome Mr. Johnson to our community.

SUPPORT GROUP

The Diabetic Support Group, who meet in the card room at the community center on the first Tuesday of every month at 6:30 p.m., got off to a great start at their meeting on Sept. 6.

Dr. David Roberts, whose family medicine office is located at Diamondhead Family Medicine Clinic, 5436 Gex Drive, "across from the duck pond," gave a most informative talk on diabetes, a future cure, and the reality that controlling the disease is everyone's own responsibility.

He stressed the fact of how important this support group is to everyone with the disease, their families and friends. Please plan on attending the next meeting Oct. 4.

Meet the artist

Village Emporium Gallery will introduce the work of Euricka Lowe on Saturday, Sept. 10 from 6-8 p.m. during the Second Saturday gallery openings. One of the city's youngest artists, born in New Orleans, Lowe is a member of the Arts Council of New Orleans as well as the Dillard University Arts Club. She is a fine arts student in her junior year at Dillard University, where she has already participated in numerous art shows. She participated in the annual Jazz and Heritage Festival in New Orleans.

Diamondhead crafts show coming up Sept. 24-25

The Arts and Creative Crafts Show at Diamondhead will take place on Saturday, Sept. 24 from 9:30 a.m. until 6 p.m. and Sunday, Sept. 25 from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. Diamondhead is located at exit 16 on I-10.

This year's lineup of exhibitors will include many familiar names, crafters who have brought their quality work to the show for several years.

Those returning will feature wood and fabric crafts, quilted items, dried and silk flower arrangements, pottery, ceramics and porcelain.

Handmade baskets; stained and etched glass; block printed, tie dyed, hand painted and stencilled clothing; shell crafts; ribbon crafts; fine arts and tole painting;

Jewelry made of everything from antique buttons and silverware to porcelain and paper; potpourri; homemade jellies and gift baskets;

Custom designed windsocks; custom made bird houses; wrought iron shelves and plant stands; leather crafts; and cypress outdoor furniture and swings.

These are just a sample of the wide variety and selection available.

As in the past years, Diamondhead Academy PTO will be holding a raffle with exciting prizes in conjunction with the crafts show.

Raffle tickets will be on sale both days, with the drawings on Sunday afternoon. You need not be present to win.

The Diamondhead Country Club will offer sandwiches and drinks inside the air conditioned building. Drinks and "munchies" will also be available outside.

There will be free shuttle bus transportation provided from the Diamondhead Shopping Center parking lot on both days.

Humes details the story of the Sherry murders in Biloxi, the involvement of the "Dixie Mafia," and the crusade for justice launched by Lynn Sponto, daughter of Judge and Mrs.

Although a murder mystery, documented works of non-fiction, Mississippi Mud reads like a suspenseful novel, featuring a cast of characters who, like con-man Kirksey Nix and crime kingpin Mike Gillich, seem to have stepped out of a novel by Donald Westlake or James Lee Burke. But the action builds toward a surprising and chilling end, exposing a network of crime, corruption, and almost unspeakable corruption.

Music and autographs

Bryan Austin wound up a day of country music competition during the True Value/Jimmy Dean Sausage Country Showdown in Picayune with a concert on Sunday. He played to a large audience, largely made up of fans and family — who are also big fans. After the concert, Austin signed autographs at the auditorium where he performed and at Crosby Memorial Library, where radio station WRJW hosted a reception for the Pass Christian native. He signs an autograph for Rocky Flowers of the Dedeaux community, son of his cousin Kendra Flowers. (Echo staff photo by Charlee Marshall)

Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino to introduce wacky 'Fun Pit'

They may not have a bearded lady, a fire eater or the infamous lizard boy, but Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino is ready to launch the wackiest "Fun Pit" on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Air horns, laughing bags, zany costumes and an all-around carnival-like atmosphere can now be found on the second floor of the New Orleans-style casino.

Unusual card games such as Royal Match 21 and Dealer Disclosure, as well as Crapless Craps and 50-cent Big Six, will complement the fast and loose atmosphere.

"The Fun Pit is designed to bring a unique type of fun and excitement to gaming, and Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino is the first casino on the Gulf Coast to feature this type of entertainment," said COO George Baxter.

The grand opening of the Fun Pit will feature cocktail waitresses dressed in poodle skirts, dealers wearing football jerseys and bartenders in referee garb. An old-fashioned jukebox will blast out tunes from the past, and the smell of fresh popped popcorn will permeate throughout the second floor.

Jay Boyd, director of special events, said the gags and entertainment in the Fun Pit will be subject to change on a whim.

"The whole idea is to keep the Fun Pit fresh and exciting, and we have the staff to make this highly successful," said Boyd.

For information call 1-800-552-0707.

Ten free live oak trees given away

Ten free live oak trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during September 1994.

The free trees are part of the non-profit foundation's Trees for America campaign.

"These magnificent wide-spreading trees will be picturesque additions to your landscape," John Rosenow, the foundation's president, said.

"They were selected because of the shade and special beauty they will give your home. Live oaks grow rapidly when young and may live to be centuries old."

Members also receive a subscription to the foundation's colorful bimonthly publication, Arbor Day, an Arbor Day Foundation wall calendar and The Tree Book with information about tree planting and care.

To become a member of the foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to Ten Live Oaks, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska, City, NE 68410, by Sept. 30.

St. Paul Carnival Assn. sponsors design contest

St. Paul Carnival Association of Pass Christian has selected "Going My Way" as the 1995 Mardi Gras theme. Dates for the annual carnival ball and parade are Feb. 25 and 27.

The carnival association is sponsoring a contest, open to the public, to design the 1995 Mardi Gras doubloon. Rules and regulations are:

— Design must reflect the 1995 Mardi Gras theme, "Going My Way," (depicting modes of travel).

— Design must be original, (trademark or copywrite unacceptable).

— Design must be a circular design with a 7" diameter submitted on 8 1/2 x 11" white paper, drawn with black ink. Design cannot be creased, folded or bent in any fashion.

— Cover sheet with explanation of design must be submitted with design, along with name, address, Social Security number and telephone number.

— Enter as many times as desired. Each entry must be individually submitted.

— Winning entry becomes property of St. Paul Carnival Association. All other entries can be returned if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed with the entry for this purpose.

— Entries must be received no later than 3 p.m. Oct. 1. (Entries may be hand-delivered only on day of deadline. Call 452-2165 or 452-7152.

— Mail entries to St. Paul Carnival Association, P.O. Box

375, Pass Christian, MS 39571.

Winners receive a $100 EE savings bond, a collector's set of doubloons and a place in history.

pig out. Quite apart from the anorectic or bulimic urge, starvation or gorging binges often have their roots in the frenzied thrashings to escape the throes of depression.

So it is just as bad a sign for some people to lose weight as it is for others to gain. On the other hand, the quantity of food consumed is rarely the main problem. Far more, it is the kind and quality of food which will help or hurt us.

"If it's good to you, it's not good for you," the old folks have always warned us. That dovetails with the dictum: "Everything I like is either immoral, illegal or fattening."

Even with the crass thought of pig grease dripping down the sides of one's mouth, the average person is drawn toward eating hog cracklings or mouth-watering crackling cornbread.

Of course, for many nothing tastes better than country butter, a cup of fresh cream, a richly marbled steak, a link of Polish or Italian sausage, or a dozen other rich foods.

We do not need another sermon on the life-threatening evil of cholesterol-laden foods. What we do need is the resolve to avoid food as our enemy and embrace it gladly as our friend.

Just as we hear, "Laughter is the best medicine," in regard to our emotions, so is food the best medicine for overall health if we are selective and consistent in its use.

Late fertilization would leave the grass tender and subject to winter injury.

Dr. David Nagel, extension turf specialist, says the thinking on late fertilization has changed. He recommends making the last application of fertilizer at least two weeks before the anticipated first frost date.

Lawngrasses in the southern part of the state have a longer growing season than those in northern Mississippi counties and are fertilized more heavily throughout the growing season.

For some lawngresses in certain parts of the state, late summer and early fall fertilization isn't recommended at all.

Pick up a copy of the Turf Tabloid from your county extension office to know what to do for your own yard.

Frequent summer rains probably interfered with your plans for postemergence weed control in your lawn. If you can't keep the chemical on the weeds, you can't control them.

In late summer, the opportunities for chemically removing existing weeds are fewer, but the need to do so is increasing. Prevent grassy weeds such as crabgrass and goosegrass from ripening a large crop of seeds.

Treated lawns also may need time to recover from herbicide applications, depending on the material used. However, mature weeds in your lawn may not be controlled as easily by a particular chemical as young weeds.

To control the weeds in your lawn, apply a preemergence

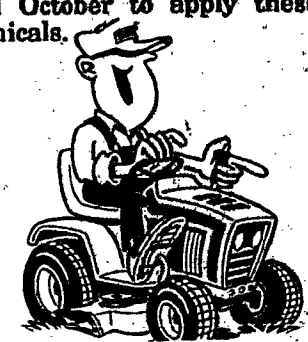

Herbicides containing benflin, bensulide, DCPA, oryzalin or pendimethalin prevent seed germination of certain weeds in established lawngresses.

The Turf Tabloid suggested applying these materials around mid-August on south Mississippi lawns and early September on north Mississippi lawns.

These materials applied twice a year, in early spring and late summer, can reduce significantly your lawn weed problems. Spot treatment with an appropriate chemical often can remove perennial broadleaf weeds like dandelion, garlic and dichondra.

Walking barefoot across our lawn this summer was impossible because of spurweed burs, those seeds now are waiting to germinate.

A herbicide containing atrazine or simazine should give good control of spurweed and many other winter weeds, but Dr. Nagel recommends waiting until October to apply these chemicals.

Winning skipper

Bay-Waveland Yacht Club skipper Charlie Merrigan and crew Corky Hadden received the Floyd Davis Memorial Trophy for winning the first race in the 75th annual Lipton Cup Regatta held last weekend at Pass Christian. BWYC sailors have won the trophy six of the ten times since it was first presented in 1985. Pete Merrifield won in 1986 and 1987, followed by Rod Stieffel in 1988 and 1990. Bishop Stieffel won last year. (Photo by Randy Ponder)

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

It's time to go fishin' y'all. The Turtle has been hearing some stories of folks catching fish in and around the Jourdan River. When you get persistent reports of a place producing fish you just gotta check out the scene. I did just that over the past weekend.

I launched from the great, free launching ramp at the end of Beach Boulevard in Cedar Point. This is a really nice ramp, which I strongly recommend everyone check out.

It is well maintained and is sloped at an angle, which makes it quite easy to launch your boat. There is plenty of parking in the launch area, so you don't have to worry where you are gonna put your truck after the launch.

Once you get your boat into the water you have two choices to make. One choice would be to turn left and see if they have any fish around the clanking and whirring machines in Casino Magic.

Incidentally, I am told the proper bait to use inside the "barge" is either round and silver or flat and green with numbers on it.

Incidentally again, the fishing is great around the barge under the lights at night.

Let's see, where were we? Oh yea, after you come out of the launch at Cedar Point you turn right to get to the mouth of the Jourdan River. The area around the far side of the mouth of the river has been producing a few specks and some nice white trout.

There seems to be a hole right at the mouth of the river that will produce croakers and white trout for those folks who fish with dead shrimp on the bottom.

And then the Turtle turned left in the mouth to travel up gonna come along at any time to take those guys away, and I did not want to have the men in the white coats mistake me for one of them.

I have only seen water conditions worse than those present in the river, in a winter storm in the Gulf of Mexico. No, on second thought, the cross waves river. I encountered nine million eight hundred fifty-three thousand six hundred and twenty-seven boats, party barges, jet skis, and floating inner tubes. And that was just in the first mile. Up around McCloud Park it gets really congested.

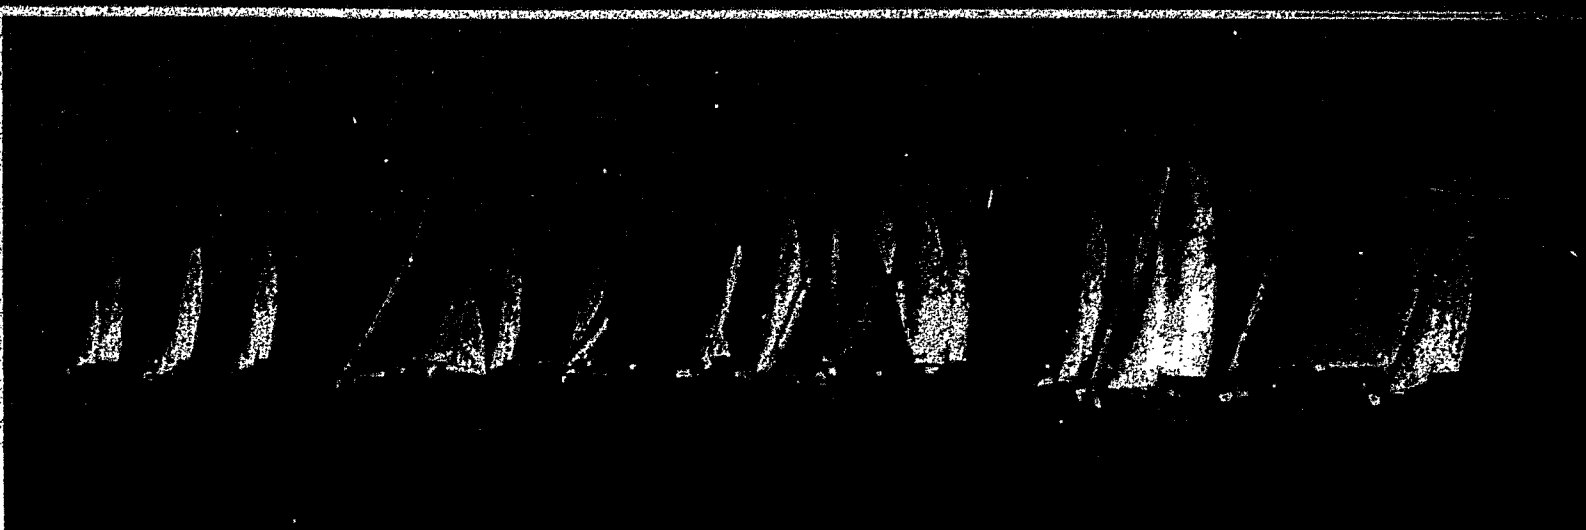

There were some brave souls fishing in the river, but they were being checked by the green men with the flashing blue lights, so I did not stop to talk to them about what they were, or were not, catching. To be truthful (that's a novel ideal for a fisherman), that's not the real reason for not stopping.

The real reason is, I was sure the men in the white coats were worse in the Jourdan River than I ever encountered in the Gulf of Mexico.

I must say that once you get above McCloud Park the water traffic thins out greatly. If you keep traveling upstream you will be treated to wonderful scenery of graceful trees gently caressing the root beer-colored water next to beautiful, white sand beaches.

This far up river you only encounter a few areas where "Slobus Americus" has left his beer cans and trash. Most of the area is such a pleasure to the eye it is a must-see experience.

Let's see, I started this out talking about the fish on the Jourdan River over the holiday weekend. My best suggestion is to stay a long way away from this river on a holiday weekend.

Boats representing 24 Gulf Yachting Association member clubs jockey for position at the start of the final race

Southern claims 75th Lipton Cup

Bay-Waveland Yacht Club's bid to bring the Lipton Cup back to the Bay was bashed on the final leg of the final race Labor Day as Southern Yacht Club of New Orleans came from behind to win.

By virtue of a first place finish in the opening race Saturday and a fourth and second on Sunday, BWYC carried a three-point lead over host Pass Christian Yacht Club and three and a quarter points over Southern into the last race. If the Bay club could finish in the top three, the cup would be theirs.

Bay, Southern and Pass challenged for the early lead, with Bay rounding the first mark in front. On the downwind leg, Southern gained and maintained a slight advantage as the regatta turned into basically a two-boat race.

On the final leg, the Bay St. Louis skipper decided to cover the PCYC boat, and attempted to finish ahead of them. This allowed Southern, which was pulling away from the other boats, to sail unhindered to a first place finish.

While shadowing the Pass boat, the winds changed, becoming light and shifty, allowing other boats that stayed to the right to catch up and pass BWYC near the finish line. Bay came in at seventh place in the race.

The official results of the regatta are:

FIRST RACE: 1st place BWYC, skipper Charlie Merrigan and crew Corky Hadden; 2nd, Southern; 3rd, Pensacola. Pass Christian finished 6th with skipper Kevin Northrop and crew Owen Peneguy and Gerard Bellanca.

SECOND RACE: 1st, New Orleans; 2nd, Biloxi; 3rd, Pass Christian, with skipper Danny Killeen, Jr. and crew Shirley Charbonnet and Sanders Kane. Bay-Waveland finished 4th with skipper Bishop Stieffel and crew Alan Uram and Emily Taylor.

THIRD RACE: 1st, Pass Christian with skipper John Dane III and crew Shelly Killeen and Rimmer Covington; 2nd, Bay-Waveland with skipper Marc Eagan and crew Bobby Eagan; 3rd, Southern.

FOURTH RACE: 1st, Southern; 2nd, Gulfport; 3rd, Buccaneer. Pass Christian finished 5th with skipper Eric Doyle and crew John F. Dane and Rimmer Covington. Bay-Waveland was 7th with skipper Dennis Stieffel and crew Rod Stieffel.

OVER ALL: 1st, Southern, 10.75 points; 2nd, Bay-Waveland, 13.75; 3rd, Pass Christian, 14.75; 4th, New Orleans, 19.75; 5th, Gulfport, 21.00.

Jourdan River excursion

This place is dangerous to both fish and humans.

I need to change the subject slightly and say hooray for the board of supervisors. They have passed a resolution requesting the DMR to build a fishing reef in the hole the sand was taken from to replenish the beach.

By passing the resolution the DMR can now place up to 200,000 cubic yards of broken concrete in the hole. This should create a great fishing reef for all Coast fishermen. Good show, supervisors.

While on the subject of supervisors, Dolph Kellar informed me he caught about a dozen catfish using the Octagon soap mixture as bait. Ya' see, it really works.

There will be a public hearing on a size change for red fish. Supposedly, the hearing will be for input purposes only. DMR will hold the new hearing on red fish Sept. 12 at 7 p.m. The hearing will be in the Scott Marine Education Building in Biloxi. The rehearing is the result of demands made by GCCA at the last DMR hearing.

GCCA felt the written request of over 5,000 Coast fishermen who requested the 16-inch minimum size limit was not what management of GCCA wanted.

They brought their lawyers to the DMR meeting to demand a rehearing on the size limit to conform to the demands of GCCA. It might be a good idea to attend the hearing and voice your opinion. My opinion is GCCA has created a giant mess.

There will be another hearing. This hearing will be on Red Snapper in Federal Waters. It will be at the Holiday Inn Crown Plaza, 333 Poydras Street, New Orleans on Sept. 19-22.

Public testimony is scheduled to be Sept. 21 at 8:30 a.m. The Gulf of Mexico Fisheries Management Council will propose the total allowable catch for red snapper at this hearing. The council will specify the recreational bag limits and commercial quotas for next season at this hearing.

This week's wonderful wise words: Jet skiers are dangerous.

Would a submarine be best in the Jourdan River over Labor Day, Turtle?

Editor's note: Jim Maness is an award-winning free-lance writer.

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws and the Hancock Hawks are in action this week. The Rocks will take on the Indians of Biloxi and the Hawks will take on the Maroon Tide of Picaune.

Both teams will travel to play games this weekend.

The Rocks travel to Yankee Stadium in Biloxi to take on the undefeated Indians of John Williams. Head coach Brannon LeBlanc coached the past two years at Biloxi High School. Look for the Rocks to try and get back on the winning track in an emotional homecoming for their coach.

The Hawks travel to Picaune to take on the Maroon Tide. The Hawks are searching for their first win of the season. Picaune was defeated by Bay High the first game of the season. The Hawks lost last week to George County.

Pirates sail across Bay for contest with Tigers

BY TRACI BONNEY
The Pass Christian Pirates face their first 4-A contest Friday when they travel to J.D. McCollough Stadium to challenge the Bay St. Louis Tigers. Pirate head coach Joseph Brown commented Friday, "The Bay has a good team. Coach (Walt) Esslinger was in the stands tonight watching us, and his team has had two weeks to get ready for us.

"We'll be keeping our eyes on Xavier Lewis, (Walt) Shabazz, (Richard) Benton and several others. They have some good skill people. We're expecting a hard game."

"The 4-A Tigers are 1-0 for the season, having had an open date to rest after their 9-7 win over the Maroon Tide of Picayune. The 2-A Pirates are 2-0 for the season, winning 27-15 over the Forrest County AHS Aggies and 28-12 against the Vandeville Bulldogs.

Bay coach Esslinger said the Tigers have been working on getting in shape during their off week.

"We concentrated last week on improving over the previous week. The guys are looking good; they're working hard. Some of our guys got beat up a little in the game against Picayune. We have one guy who didn't get hurt really bad, but he didn't practice at all last week."

As for what he saw Friday in Pass Christian, Esslinger said, "I thought their skill people looked good. It's a typical Pass Christian team; they play hard and they'll hit you."

Kickoff for the across-the-water rivals is 7:30 p.m. Friday in Bay St. Louis.

Rocks name Players of the Week

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
St. Stanislaus head football coach has announced the players of the week for the St. John game last Friday.

The Offensive and Defensive Players of the Week are sponsored by Mike Meyers State Farm Insurance and the Special Teams Player of the Week and the Junior Varsity Player of the Week are sponsored by the Knights of Columbus of Pass Christian.

The Offensive Player of the Week is Brooks Quinlan. Quinlan scored three touchdowns and rushed for 38 yards. Two of his touchdowns came on passes. Quinlan leads Division 8 Class 4A with 18 points and 2 TD receptions.

The Defensive Player of the Week is Corey Charles. Charles led a nasty defense against the Eagles last week. Charles recorded a team high 18 tackles. He had three stops behind the line of scrimmage.

The Special Teams Player of the Week is David Manasco. He swung the momentum of the game with his third quarter punt return that went for 47 yards. Manasco also plays wide receiver and outside linebacker.

The Junior Varsity Player of the Week is Tyree Haynes. He had an impressive game rushing the ball and returning the ball on special teams for the Rocks against Bay High last week. Haynes and the Rocks swept Bay High in junior varsity and junior high football action.

Cheerleaders

1994-95 Hancock Junior High cheerleaders are, first row from left, Amber Ladner, eighth grade; Akai Lightell, ninth grade; Laci Havard, ninth grade and captain; Jenny Boudreaux, eighth grade; Kyla Gutierrez, eighth grade and co-captain; second row, Amber Brignac, seventh grade; Amanda Pullen, eighth grade; Mary Ann Garriga, ninth grade; Amanda Parker, ninth grade; Robin Guillot, ninth grade and Jenny Ladner, ninth grade. The squad attended camp this summer at Perkinston and won numerous awards, trophies and ribbons. Krista Lee is squad sponsor.

Resident wins new Thunderbird

Waveland native Katharine Green, a single parent with four children, won a 1994 Ford Thunderbird on Labor Day as part of Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino's "Hot Summer Night" month-long promotion.

Green, who owns and operates a local hair salon, said she collected three entry forms throughout the course of the promotion and deposited them only moments before the drawing.

She was speechless when she discovered she was the grand prize winner of an estimated 100,000 entry forms.

"I literally ran from the parking lot into the casino to make sure I had my entry forms in on time. I never won a thing in my life, so you can imagine my surprise when they announced I was the winner," said Green.

Green's mother, Norma Fucich, was with her daughter when the lucky entry was picked from a giant drum.

"I actually cried when she won. Our whole family is real proud of her," said Fucich.

Larry Main, vice president of slot operations for Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino, said Green had a look of astonishment on her face when her name was called.

"She was totally stunned and seemed oblivious to the celebration going on around her," said Main.

Green turned down the car and opted for $12,000 in cash.

As part of their month-long Hot Summer Nights promotion, Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino gave away over 16,000 two-liter bottles of Coca-Cola, over 300 AM-FM miniature juke boxes, 35 antique slot machines, two dozen 50s-style bicycles and $17,000 in Hurricane of Money.

Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino is an Alpha Gulf Coast Inc. property. For information call 1-800-552-0707.

Heart association sponsors 12K walk/run

It's coming Saturday, Sept. 24, and it's sure to be one of the best health promotions to hit the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The Harrison County Division of the American Heart Association presents the Inaugural 12K Walk/Run to be held on the Mississippi Beach.

The course will begin in Biloxi at the Mississippi Gulf Coast Coliseum at 8 a.m. and travel west on Hwy. 90 to Jones Park.

Various local companies have joined forces with the AHA and will be sponsoring mile water stations to cheer all supporters on as they walk/run to raise funds for the American Heart Association's fight against Mississippi's number one killer — heart disease and stroke. The event will also increase awareness of the importance of exercise.

All participants will receive a special walk/run t-shirt and prizes will be awarded at the post-race party at Jones Park.

Transportation will be provided for the walkers and runners from Jones Park back to the Coliseum, available continuously from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Anyone interested in participating in the event is asked to call 388-6938 for information.

NRL SSC 'inks' contract with Australian firm

A contract to modify the existing Royal Australian Navy's (RAN) Laser Airborne Depth Sounder (LADS) system for use by the Naval Research Laboratory (NRL) was awarded to BHP Engineering, Ltd. of Adelaide, Australia.

LADS, developed for the RAN and fitted on a Fokker F27 aircraft, will be redesigned for evaluation of potential use aboard a U.S. Navy P-3 aircraft. The difference in size and speed between the P-3 and the Fokker will require BHP to advance the state-of-the-art in the collection of rapid shallow water depth soundings using laser technology.

The $3.8 million contract, sponsored by the Undersecretary of Defense via the Navy International Programs Office and the Oceanographer of the Navy, has a completion date of 21 months. Funding is provided through the Foreign Comparative Testing Program.

Program initiation, contract negotiation and award were completed by project manager LCDR Gary R. Ayers, programs office director Kenneth M. Ferer, contract specialist Patricia A. Lewis, and contracts branch head John W. Adams.

The contract results could provide the U.S. Navy and commercial shipping entities an advancement of technology for collecting significantly more detailed and accurate bathymetry data concerning navigable areas of interest.

The RAN has used this technology for over a year and discovered two new deep-water channels through the Great Barrier Reef which will reduce transit time for one particular port from three days to less than six hours.

LADS is a self-contained hydrographic surveying system for collecting bathymetric data in coastal/shallow water areas. It is particularly suitable for rapid surveying in regions where ship operations are costly, logistically difficult and overly slow.

The system includes comprehensive data acquisition/analysis and support facilities in two functional groups: 1) the airborne laser, navigation and data acquisition equipment, mounted in a host aircraft; and 2) the ground-based data analysis and support equipment.

The system is capable of surveying in excess of 50 square kilometers in one hour when flown at an altitude of 500 meters, and can measure 40 meter-spaced soundings in a swath 240 meters wide while flying at 145 knots.

Depth measurement capability varies with water clarity up to 50 meters. When combined with the global positioning system data, LADS produces accurate high-density digital depth and positional data for fulfillment of shallow water survey requirements.

An airborne laser system offers a ten-to-one advantage in survey speed as well as minimizing bad weather exposure and offering minimal exposure time in hostile or restricted regions.

LADS has the potential to save both the U.S. Navy and commercial shipping a tremendous amount of money by reducing the time required to conduct hydrographic surveys and by shortening shipping lanes. Airborne measurements will also provide an increased level of safety during surveys.

Associate completes training

Greta Darrow of Century 21 McIntyre-Rapp has completed 21Plus Training. By successfully meeting the course requirements, Darrow is now equipped with not only valuable information, but state-of-the-art tools and programs "that will help me better serve my clients."

Chari McIntyre-Rapp, broker/owner of Century 21 McIntyre-Rapp, recommends that all sales associates complete the "thorough and innovative" 21Plus Training toward fulfilling the Century 21 system's mission of providing customers and clients with unparalleled quality service.

Women's Tennis Awards Gala

Bayshore adds agents

ERA Bayshore Realty announces the addition of two new agents to its professional staff.

Rosalind Landrum successfully completed Mississippi Real Estate Institute Courses I and II and received her license June 1994.

For the previous 14 years she has worked in this area in private industry and the federal government. Landrum is married with one son and looks forward to working with old and new friends.

Dave Miller, a retired Air Force Squadron Commander, joined ERA Bayshore Realty in June 1994. He holds a business degree from the University of Georgia, which he finds particularly valuable in resolving clients' real estate problems.

Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino honors group

RSVP parties hearty!

BY CHARLEE MARSHALL

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program was recognized for its community service Tuesday, Aug. 30 when Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino rolled out the welcome mat for its members.

The casino opened its entertainment facility on the third floor and set up a line of hot hors d'oeuvres and tasty sandwiches and snacks to honor the RSVP group, its advisory council and other invited guests.

Joann Lagasse, RSVP program director, was pleased with the turnout. Over half of the RSVP's membership of 425 turned out to enjoy the party.

Lagasse, with assistance from Ellis Cuevas, chairman of the advisory council, and the Jubilee Joe alligator, gave out a number of door prizes. The prizes included 30 seconds in the Hurricane booth where there was an opportunity for the winner to grab big money.

The director said RSVP welcomes new members, aged 55 and up, to join the group. She may be contacted at 467-9204.

Full plate

RSVP members line up to fill plates with the tasty items available on the buffet. They joined their friends at long tables set up for the occasion to enjoy the food and conversation.

Friends

Dot Feaheny, volunteer and member of the advisory council of R.S.V.P., left, and its program director Joann Lagasse, meet Jubilee Joe, the casino's mascot. The alligator made its rounds during the party to the delight of guests.

Togetherness

Around 220 members of the R.S.V.P. turned out to partake of the casino's hospitality when the group was honored by Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino for its community service last week.

Door prizes

Joann Lagasse, Ellis Cuevas and Jubilee Joe conduct the drawing for door prizes at the party given for RSVP volunteers. Many won nice prizes and one lucky winner, the opportunity to grab money in the casino's Hurricane booth.

Storytelling festival is Saturday, Sept. 10

Hilarious, touching, exciting, suspenseful and unforgettable stories will be the order of the day Saturday, Sept. 10 with the Great Oaks Storytelling Festival.

A troupe of 15 storytellers and numerous additional performers will present all-day entertainment on the tree-lined streets of old Ocean Springs.

In addition, the Walter Anderson Museum, a co-sponsor of the event, will host a free day at the museum.

Day performances, to be held at four main sites throughout the downtown area, will begin at 10 a.m. and will last until 5 p.m. Performances are based on themes that appeal to adults as well as children.

Adults will enjoy such storytelling sessions as "The Way It Used To Be," "Wit and Wisdom" and "Good Ol' Days."

Sessions for children include "Ghoulies and Ghosties," "Magic and Marvels," and "Wild and Crazy!" Tickets for the day performance are $5.

An evening concert and dessert reception, especially for adults, will feature headline storyteller Carmen Deedy, a regular guest on National Public Radio's All Things Considered.

Deedy will share her stories surrounded by the beautiful murals of Walter Anderson in the Ocean Springs Community Center. The concert/reception will begin at 7:30 p.m. Tickets for the adult evening performance are $7.

In addition to the storytellers, special performances will be provided by Leif Anderson, daughter of Walter Anderson, and a troupe of young actors called Kids on Stage.

Wandering troubadours on the street will also entertain audiences with dulcimer, guitar and fiddle.

Festival guests are also invited to share their own stories at the "Swapping Ground," hosted by New Orleans storyteller Julianna Padgett.

Tickets are available at the Ocean Springs Chamber of Commerce by calling 875-4424. For information, call Chris Vinsonhaler at 872-8109.

Second Saturday is 'Among the Best'

"Among the Best" will be the theme of September's Second Saturday gallery openings in Bay St. Louis in recognition of that city's inclusion in John Villani's upcoming book, The 100 Best Small Art Towns in America, being released in October. Opening receptions will be held Sept. 10 from 6-8 p.m. at the galleries located in Bay St. Louis' Old Town (around the first two blocks of Main Street off the beach). Most exhibits will run through the first week of October.

The Mississippi Gallery, 125 Main Street, will feature New Orleans fiber artist Suzy Cameleon's "Nassen" or "Nazome" rice paste/stencil dyed silk ties. This complex Japanese method employs stencils as well as tatus cone painting techniques, and each work is one-of-a-kind. Cameleon's silk paintings will also be displayed, along with new works by gallery owners Tony Eccles and Keith Karlson.

The Antiquarian, 125 Main Street, displays tribal African art of various regions, including furniture, masks, and ritual objects from French Cameroon and Ma'.

In a two-part series, the Art Gallery, 126 Main Street, introduces new works in oils by Dorothy McAdams depicting local scenes such as "The Old Shoe Store on Second Street," notable for its lyrical use of color and light, and abstracts and floral paintings by soft and subtle colorist Carolyn Busenlener.

The Village Emporium introduces figurative painter Euricka Lowe, who is a fine arts student at Dillard University and who has recently participated in a number of juried shows, including the Black Southwest Arts Festival in Dallas and the Atlanta Heritage Arts Festival. Lowe's work employs a bold palette and rhythmic designs in its evocation of New Orleans.

Nadic Arts features the oil and acrylic paintings of Gulf Coast naturalist Nadine Stamm. The S. Anne Lynch Studio, or "Cat Rock Corner," presents more of the artist's nationally known animals painted on rocks and stones.

Ycart Gallery, 112 N. 2nd Street, showcases William Carey College faculty member Ted Rose in a display of pastel, oil, pencil and acrylic works of the coastal Mississippi environment, along with other local artists' works previously shown in Mississippi Museum of Art's summer exhibition in Jackson. Other works by the gallery's stable of local, regional and international artists will also be on view.

M. Schon-Erickson Gallery,

108 B. 2nd Street, features a two-part series of paintings by local and regional artists, including a block of blues, jazz, and antique. Vicki Layer's gallery, "Paper Moon," offers the artist's well-known shadowbox constructions along with jewelry, curiosities and nostalgic wearables.

Hancock chamber sponsoring Hospitality Training Seminar

Ray Lewis, senior vice president of Worldwide Marketing for Holiday Inn stated that the chain would increase its profit by 150% by eliminating 5% of customer loss.

Taco Bell has estimated that losing one customer will cost them $65,000 in potential sales. US News and World Report did a survey on retailing customer loss and came up with the following reasons for customer loss:

- 1% die
 - 3% move away
 - 5% other friendship
 - 9% competitive reasons
 - 14% product dissatisfaction
 - 68% attitude toward customer by the management or employees
- The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development, will host its first annual Hospitality Training Seminar.

The seminar, to be held in two sessions for merchant convenience, will be at the Coast Electric Conference Room on Main Street in Bay St. Louis Thursday, Sept. 15.

The first session will be from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and the second session will be from 2-4 p.m.

Chic Warner and Barbie Rumsom from the state Department of Economic and Community Development will conduct the seminars.

For information and to make reservations, contact the Chamber office at 467-9048.

ARTIN' ABOUT

Crimes of the Heart

Gulfport Little Theatre presents "Crimes of the Heart," winner of the Pulitzer Prize and the New York Drama Critics Circle Award.

Performances are Sept. 9, 10, 16 and 17 at 8 p.m. and Sept. 18 at 2 p.m. at the theatre, Deborah Place off Pass Road, Gulfport.

"Crimes of the Heart," by Mississippi's own Beth Henley, is the story of three crazed Mississippi sisters who are trying to pull their lives together amidst family crisis.

Director is Bill Sumrall. The cast includes Teresa Switzer, Shelley Jones, LeAnne Holston, Whitley Switzer, Chip Gordon and Mike Odom.

Tickets are $9 for adults and $6 for students. For reservations or information call 864-7983.

Sound of Music

Tickets are now on sale at all Ticketmaster locations and The Saenger Theatre box office, 143 N. Rampart, New Orleans, for Rodgers and Hammerstein's classic romantic musical, "The Sound of Music," starring popular stage, television and Grammy-Award-winning recording artist Marie Osmond.

To charge by phone, call 522-5555. Performance times are Sept. 27-Oct. 2, Tuesday through Saturday at 8 p.m. with matinees Thursday, Saturday and Sunday at 2 p.m. Tickets range from $29 to $38.50.

Arts and crafts show

Historic Ocean Springs Association (HOSA) is accepting applications for its annual juried arts and crafts exhibit to be held in conjunction with the 16th annual Peter Anderson Festival on Nov. 5-6.

The festival has been named one of the top 20 events in the Southeast. The contemporary arts and crafts exhibit will be in Marshall Park in Ocean Springs. Only 24 artists and crafters will be accepted.

First place will be awarded $500, second place, $200; third place $100; honorable mention, a $50 gift certificate from the Art Who Gallery.

HOSA is waiving its usual application fee. A 10x10' corner booth will be $125.

Applications (must be postmarked by Sept. 30) may be received from Russ Bayne (601) 872-6933. For information call (601) 875-3251 or (601) 875-9472.

Anderson Museum

The Walter Anderson Museum of Art will begin a unique exhibition Sept. 17. The exhibition will have lots of bones and drawings of bones, thanks to the talent of artist Gendron Jensen, known for his wonderfully detailed graphite sketches of animals bones.

Spirit Line: Graphite Images of Gendron Jensen and Walter Inglis Anderson will contain 24 of Jensen's images of bones of animals native to the Mississippi Gulf Coast complemented by numerous drawings of corresponding animals by Walter Anderson.

Also on display will be the actual animal bones from which Jensen took his inspiration, as well as other animal bones for museum visitors to handle.

"Spirit Line" will be on display

Gulfport Little Theatre presents 'Crimes of the Heart' through Nov. 11.

The museum is open Mondays through Saturdays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sundays, 1 to 5 p.m. Admission fees are $3 for adults and $1 for children over six years. Special rates are available for tour groups.

Ohr Extravaganza

Local and regional artists are invited to participate in the third annual George E. Ohr Extravaganza.

The Oct. 22 event will include a juried fine arts exhibition and a juried folk and artisan market. Selected works in all media will be considered for participation in the two categories.

Cash prizes will be awarded, and winning entries in both events will be displayed at the George E. Ohr Arts and Cultural Center for four weeks after the Extravaganza.

Artists needing more information should contact Marjie

Gowdy, museum director, at (601) 374-5547.

The Extravaganza celebrates the life of famed potter George E. Ohr. In addition to art, food and fun, this year's event will serve as the official grand opening of the new Ohr gallery at the Arts and Cultural Center.

DOWN HOME

By Darlene Underwood
Hancock County
Home Economist

Warm, humid summer days can bring on two unwanted guests if precautions are not made. These unwanted guests are mold and mildew.

They both are fungi and will flourish in dark, damp, poorly ventilated and/or improperly cleaned environments. They can cause particular problems during warm days in this area of the country because of increased humidity.

Summer months are also a problem because of increased perspiration and other means of frequent dampness on clothes. The best way to prevent mildew is to keep garments and surfaces they may come in contact with dry.

If clothes are damp or wet when changing them, hang or spread them to dry before placing them in the clothes hamper.

Organic residue from soap, soil, smoke and cooking oils often provide food for mildew. Mildew thrives when the air temperature is between 77 and 86 degrees, especially if there is something to feed on.

Mildew needs a relatively high humidity level to grow, which can be accomplished around damp surfaces or other items. Areas that can trap warm air and humidity (such as behind draperies, closed shower stalls, and inside hampers and closets) can become breeding places for mold and mildew.

Preventing mildew on clothing

When mildew appears, remove it immediately. For clothing, brush items and hang them in the sun for several hours. Always brush them outdoors to avoid spreading the mildew fungi indoors.

If garments need additional treatment, soak or launder the stained items, using chlorine bleach if safe for fabric. Otherwise soak in an oxygen bleach and the hottest water safe for fabric, then launder.

Pay careful attention to walls, closets, clothes hamper, air condition vents, other textiles, shower stalls, tubs, toilet bowls and tanks. Whenever possible, expose these areas to natural or artificial light. Also, avoid using the washer as a place to store dirty laundry, especially if damp.

Reduce moisture in the house whenever possible. Cover pots when cooking, use the air conditioner or another type of dehumidifier, and take shorter/cooler showers.

Desiccants (drying agents) such as silica gel or alumina, in open containers, can help in small closed areas. Commercial fungicidal products also can provide protection.

By reducing soil and moisture, using water-repellent and soil-resistant spray treatments, you can inhibit growth of mold and mildew on your clothes and other surfaces.

Equitable cost of living adjustments

Military retirees would get COLA increases on the same schedule as federal civilian retiree COLAs, if Congress approves an amendment to the Department of Defense Authorization Bill.

The amendment, supported by all veterans organizations and introduced by Rep. John Kyl of Arizona, has unanimously passed the House Armed Ser-VICES Committee. It calls for military and civilian retiree COLA delays to be identical. Currently, military retiree COLAs are delayed 39 months over a five-year period.

Federal civilian retirees only lose nine months' COLA to delays over the same period.

If the amendment isn't approved, the delayed COLAs will cost retired officers an average of $2,720, while civilians with comparable pay grades will lose $603.

The average enlisted retiree will sacrifice $1,451, compared to $322 lost by a civilian who retired in a comparable pay grade.

While on the subject of OLAs, barring any congressional conference battles, veterans who receive VA disability compensation will receive a 3 percent COLA increase effective Dec. 1, 1994. The increase would appear on the January 1995 check.

The COLA increase reflects the rise in the cost of living for the preceding year and is usually identical to the Social Security COLA.

Mesclun offers new salad idea

By Dr. Milo Burnham
Horticulturist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

For the second time in one year I encountered the term "mesclun," but on the second encounter I got to eat it. Mesclun is the term used for a mixture of tender greens prepared and eaten as an impromptu salad.

Last year, I attended a talk in Jackson given by Shepherd Odgen, owner of The Cook's Garden, a national supplier of seeds and garden items. Odgen distributed seed packets of a mesclun he'd concocted for southern gardens.

On occasions I've irreverently referred to mesclun as a mixture of tender lawn weeds. This description is not altogether wrong because mesclun can include leafy greens such as dandelion and purslane, two fairly common southern weeds.

On a recent trip to the Pacific Northwest, I had my second encounter with mesclun. The menu for the Extension/Industry banquet meeting of the American Society for Horticultural Science listed a mesclun salad. Fortunately, the menu also listed the ingredients, which consisted of a variety of greens, lettuce, herbs and blossoms.

Some greens listed were chicory (three varieties), dandelion, endive, mustard tips, spinach, shungiku (edible chrysanthemum), nasturtium leaves and parsley. Under the lettuce heading were batavian lettuce, butterhead, looseleaf and (unsuspectingly) than actual blossoms.

The flowers and flower petals in the Oregon mesclun added a lot more than just attractive color. While the brilliant blue borage flowers and the calendula petals may have added only variety in color, the whole yellow, orange and mahogany nasturtium flowers were packed with flavor.

Not all blossoms are edible, some in fact are poisonous, but the list of edible flowers is long and includes such flowers as anise hyssop, basil, bachelor buttons, daylily, garlic chives, hollyhock, Johnny jump-ups, marigold, onion chives, pansy, petunia, pineapple sage, redbud, rosemary, snapdragon, squash, pumpkin and violet.

Be sure not to mix any of the following poisonous flowers: sweet pea, Carolina jessamine, oleander, delphinium, clematis, lily of the valley, Christmas rose, Lenten rose, mountain laurel, azalea and wisteria. This is just a partial list of blossoms considered poisonous.

In addition to avoiding poisonous flowers, also avoid those sprayed with pesticides. Flowers for eating should be picked early in the day after the dew has dried but before the heat of the day has wilted them.

Check for insects and remove any found by shaking, brushing or picking, but don't try to wash them out. Store the flowers in a plastic bag in the refrigerator until they are used, which should be the day of harvest.

Astronomy seminars for adults

NASA's John C. Stennis Space Center and the Long Beach Public Library will jointly sponsor a free series of astronomy seminars for adults Sept. 20-22 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the library. The public is invited to participate.

NASA has a commitment to foster lifelong learning and scientific literacy in America. To help fulfill that commitment, NASA's Aerospace Education Services program has initiated a national pilot project that sponsors educational activities such as seminars on astronomy and other science-related topics.

The astronomy seminars were designed with the purpose of introducing the subject to people with little or no science background.

Jim McMurtry, an aerospace education specialist at Stennis, will instruct the seminars beginning with an introduction to the fundamentals of astronomy.

McMurtry will use laser disc video, videotape and computer imagery to examine current research in astronomy and results from NASA missions including the Hubble Telescope and the Cosmic Background Explorer.

In addition, participants will conduct night sky observations with binoculars and telescopes if conditions permit.

All interested adults are encouraged to attend the free seminars; however, registration is required and will be limited to 25 participants. For more information, call the Long Beach Public Library at (601) 863-0711.

NOTICE TO VOTERS

A Special Election for Hancock County School Board Members for Districts ONE, TWO, THREE, FOUR and FIVE will be held November 8, 1994.

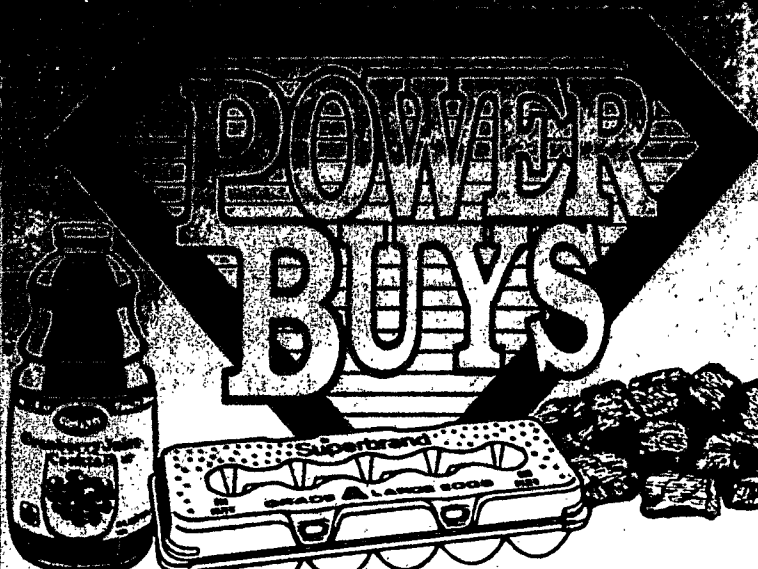

The deadline to qualify for the office of School Board will be 5:00 p.m., September 9, 1994, in the Office of the Circuit Clerk.

Qualifying information may be obtained from the Circuit Clerk's Office.
